Physicians Think Young Roosevelt Will Pass It.

Marked Improvement in Condition of President's Son, the Crisis in Whose

Life is in Sight—Cheerfulness

of the Patient Very Manifest, and the President is so Confident that He is Making Preparations for

His Return to Washington—Only

Unsettled for Complications

Will Prevent a Favorable Outcome.

Groton, Mass., Feb. 13.—Theodore

Roosevelt, Jr.'s physicians believe that their patient's vitality will be sufficient for him to meet and successfully the crisis in his disease,

which is looked for sometime today,

and by tomorrow morning he will be practically out of danger. Last night he was considered to be better than on Tuesday. This report, which was given out by Mr. Cortelyou at 9 o'clock, was the last of the four interviews during the day, none of which was of a discouraging or unfavorable nature.

The first came early in the morning and stated that the night had been a good one, and this was confirmed

later, after the morning examinations

by the physicians, and in addition it was said that about the general conditions continue for 48 hours, the danger would be past. Again, at 3 o'clock, word came that the status of the patient was unchanged, but that the conditions continued favorable.

At that time, however, no mention was made as to whether the crisis had been passed or was near. But last night, after the night examination by the doctors, Secretary Cortelyou

frankly said that the crisis in the

Hohenhausen Reaches New York

Day Ahead of Scheduled Time.

New York, Feb. 13.—The Imperial

German yacht Hohenhausen, sent here

for the use of Prince Henry of Prussia

during his forthcoming visit, arrived yesterday from Kiel. She was not expected, for she came by the anthracite cable, and it was calculated that the run would take at least one day more than it did. It had also been thought that she would touch at Bermuda, and that place had reported her as two days overdue. The weather she encountered was unfavorable for a call at Bermuda and at New York. Prince

Henry shaped his course for New York.

The yacht here in sight off Sandy Hook a few minutes before noon, and an hour later was in quarantine. She came out of the port from Federal officials and came on through the narrows and up into North river without delay. Taming craft gave her a noisy welcome with her whistles and the mass at her jetty was kept busy with dipping her big naval flag. She stood high out of water and looked impossing and real. She was painted white all over, save a golden black eagle at her figure head, some touches of gold astern, and a long streak of red in the bow. She has a run-down and a long streak of red in the bow.

Treaty Just Made is Regarded as

Almost a Paraphrase of the Post-

gards it as a Departure by Britain

Peace—London, Feb. 13.—An important paper was issued last night, giving the terms of a practical alliance between Great Britain and Japan for the preservation of China and Corea, and to explain the attitude of the colony of Wei Hui Wei.

Washington, Feb. 13.—Mr. Tachibana, the Japanese minister to Washington, yesterday called at the state department and notified Secretary Hay

of the signing of the treaty between

Britain and Japan, made public in Lon-dun, binding the nations to joint action to maintain the integrity of China and Corea.

The assent of the United States is not necessary to this agreement, but if it becomes a treaty, it will not be withheld, for the point is that the treaty is precisely in line with the aims of the state department, as fully discussed by it from time to time.

It is again stated that there has been no joint action as between the United States and the two nations named, yet it is a fact that the preamble to the treaty might be regarded as almost a paraphrase of the position of the United States toward the Manchurian question. The treaty is in fact a question as to whether the treaty is

Miss NELLIE CONNELL, Manager,
BROAD STREET,
EAST WEYMOUTH.

WEYMOUTH AND EAST BRAintree.

—Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights of next week the attractions of the town will be at Odd Fellows' Opera House, East Weymouth. These are the nights of the cemetery fair and every night you will see a good entertainment.

—Mrs. W. B. Clapp spent Sunday with her father, at Amherst, N. H.

—Stuffed dates 25c. per pound, at Harlow's.

—The regular social of the First Universalist Society will be held in Lincoln hall this evening, the boys of Miss J. Jaso Clapp's Sunday School class being the supper committee, and in charge generally. As their reputation for providing good suppers is well known, it is hoped a large company will be present.

—Mrs. M. E. Perry, who has been confined to the house for the past week with a severe cold, is able to be out again.

—Something new, fig chips, 25c. per pound at Harlow's.

—Charles Nash or Front street, who has been quite ill with lung trouble, is rapidly improving.

—The subject under consideration by Mr. Nash at the First Universalist Church Sunday morning was the question, "Am I my brother's keeper?" and the text was from Matt. 23: 40. "And the King shall answer and say unto them, 'Verily I say unto you, inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these, my brethren, ye have done it unto me.'"

—The congregation was a very attentive one, and the choir, assisted by Mr. Lincoln, of East Weymouth, rendered a number of choice selections.

—Butter Scotch wafers, 25c. per pound at Harlow's.

—The Puritana Whist Club met with Miss Elsie Litchfield at East Weymouth, Tuesday evening of last week.

—The prices were won Mrs. John Neal and Miss Blanche Ingell, and a good time was enjoyed by all.

SOUTH WEYMOUTH

—The Fairmount Cemetery Association of East Weymouth have always given the people a good fair and good entertainment. You can make a mistake in going to either of all of the nights next week—Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday at Odd Fellows' Opera House.

—Mr. and Mrs. Edna Doble of North Adams are visiting Mr. Doble's parents on Pond street.

—The latest guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward McKee of Pond street is a young man by the name of Edward Leland McKee.

—Lewis Ellis is suffering from a severe cold from an over-exposed kettle Sunday night.

—About 100 people gathered at the Porter house Friday evening to listen to the excellent lecture of Miss Anna Barrows entitled, "Milk," and were well repaid for their effort.

—The lecture was under the auspices of the Weymouth Industrial and Agricultural Society.

—Mrs. Nathan Tirrell is to have charge of the entertainment to be given in the M. E. Church vestry this evening, therefore a most pleasing one is assured.

—Joseph Miller, the bustling sea-faring granite dealer of this place, is driving a new fancy steamer around, lately purchased.

—John Drayton and Frank Champion have accepted positions with M. C. Dier East Weymouth.

—Notwithstanding the weather Monday evening, about 25 voters from this part of the Ward went to the caucus at Nash.

—Henry Burke is able to be out once more after his recent illness.

—The accident last Saturday, which but for his coolness, might have proved fatal. While returning from work at Edwin Clapp's shop he endeavored to take a short cut across the ice and when on the pond slipped on the edge of the ice into the channel where by his coolness he finally drew himself out without going under the ice.

—Walter Pratt, William White and Arthur Hawes were appointed to furnish an entertainment for the Athletic Association at the last meeting.

—Frank Rice has accepted a position as assistant foreman at Dier's, East Weymouth.

—Stephen French is the new manager for the baseball team of the P. A. A. Mr. French is a most efficient person for the position, a man who is a ball player in every sense himself, and one who knows how to control others wisely. The Porter A. A. is to be congratulated on its wise selection.

—Herbert Tirrell, Allan Blanchard and J. French are to hold a party one week from Saturday evening in the house known as the "Mansueto Party."

—The Porter house was taxed to its utmost capacity last Saturday evening when Messrs. Tiedel, Blanchard and Aligned the leader of White's orchestra of Weymouth for the starting of the grand march of an fine variety and grand make up of costumes as have been presented at a masquerade party.

—About twenty-five couples enjoyed the exceptionally fine music of White's orchestra until a late hour. Much merriment was occasioned by the different characters.

—The Porter orchestra are reporting good progress at their rehearsals. They are endeavoring to be ready to present the show about the middle of next month.

Sunshine Circle Entertainment.

A crowded house rewarded the efforts of a circle of the Juniors connected with the Methodist Episcopal Church, East Braintree, on last Wednesday evening, when they held a sale and entertainment.

Some weeks ago a Sunshine Circle was formed under the leadership of Mrs. A. G. Boynton with a membership of ten or twelve, and about the same time attention was called to them for some years past especially the repairing of the roof.

The circle started out to buy at least a part of the shingles and Wednesday evening the net proceeds showed that they could subscribe something over $50 towards the amount needed.

The circle has shown much enthusiasm in regard to the affair and the members have worked hard, for which they deserve much credit and they do doubt now feel amply repaid for the same.

A programme consisting of a dialogue, recitations, songs and a duet was given, closing with a "Pied Piper's Parade" in which were represented various callings.

fool-cram, cake, candy and fancy articles found a ready sale among the audience. The circle is especially grateful to those who in any way contributed towards the success of their undertaking.

PORTER

—The people of this village ought to be interested in all of the nights of the cemetery fair at East Weymouth next week, especially in the high class vaudeville Friday night.

—A most enjoyable family gathering was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Osborne last Saturday evening when Mr. Osborne's sisters, with families, who reside in Quincy, Arlington, Hingham and North Weymouth spent the evening with him. The Misses Townsend in piano as well as vocal duets were in constant demand. A lunch was served at a late hour by the hostess.

"See here, Connie. I can't go a step farther. If you want to carry out the rest of your programme for today, you will have to do it by yourself. I am exhausted out. And here are these home papers I have been carrying around all morning without even a chance to glance in them."

One glance at the daughter showed her that she was general of the little exploring party. Filled with a determination to see everything at the exposition, she had been "personally inducting" her meek minded mother face calmed her. It wore the look of a man stunned by the shock of a sudden blow.

[illegible]

"Of course," she went on more quickly, "it may have been going on for a long time. Maud is not pretty," with an admiring gaze at her own daughter.

"but she is kind and pleasant. I might have done worse."

Connie had started to her feet.

"Yes, he might have done worse," she echoed. "But I shall write him to-night tonight and scold him from my long table before me, whom he has deceived his best friend. Now, mother, if your eyes determined not to see anything more of the world, I will, I will, I will."

Meanwhile the trim little figure was hurrying down a long aisle. Her eyes passed over a kaleidoscopic succession of objects that somehow failed to make any impression on her brain. The exposition roared and buzzed around her, but in her mind one thought kept repeating with a terrible persistency.

Jim engaged—her Jim! Yes, he had been her Jim, she said almost sadly; had been her best friend for ever so long. She had been coquetish and flirted with the other boys, but he knew all along, she felt sure. He was the only one with her. He was the only one who had engaged her.

white and weary that her mother was alarmed, but she pleaded fatigue went off to bed like a tired child.

Poor Mrs. Curwin was much distressed these days. Her daughter seemed the usual Connie, but she had inspired the girl with this notion of staying in Paris to study art. She argued and scolded, but all in vain. Her daughter's mind was determined mind, and on this subject was more than usually determined. Her mother finally resigned herself to the prospect of being an exile from her beloved home.

Connie stayed she had to a while, until Connie wearied of this life of whim. Mrs. Curwin devoutly hoped that it would be soon.

However, there was one alleviation for her. Connie seemed to have lost her enthusiasm over doing the position. She spent her time in delights of shopping, of which the woman did not soon tire. To be sure, she would might have been content to have bought her purchases. It was very well to say that as an art student she would need few clothes. Mrs. Curwin knew better. Connie had always been fond of clothes, and had been told by her art director and find that her wardrobe was but a skeleton.

But her daughter's indifference to her real interests' did not prevent Curwin from entering eagerly into her plans. She had seen that her daughter had brought some of their home furniture with them! Connie tried to picture patiently how out of place the heavy, elegantly carved furniture would be in the studio and how much delightful it would be to possess the necessary things one at a time, the various curio shops. This last was balm to her mother's ruffled feelings. It offered an infinite possibility for comfort.

QUINCY ADAMS SAWYER.

When the Play Resumes the Book.
Now the great army of novel readers hear that a book which they have read and liked particularly well, has been dramatized they are pretty sure to wish to see it. Such is the case with "Quincy Adams Sawyer," the famous New England novel, which has been so successfully dramatized, and is being presented to crowded houses everywhere. The engagement in Boston will be next month at the Boston Theatre, beginning March 24.
The characters from the book, which are prominent in the play are: Quincy Adams Sawyer, Zerkel Pettengill, Obadiah Strout, Arthur Hastings, Hiram Maxwell, Deacon Mason, Abner Bittles, Benoni Hill, Sam Hall, Bob Wood, Solida Lewis, Lindy Pulpin, Alcott Pettengill, Mrs. Helephah Pulpin, Mandy Skinner, Hilday Mason, Samantha Green, Mrs. Crowley, Mrs. Hawkins.
The scenes of the four acts of the play are taken wholly and directly set as follows: Interior of Benoni Hill's grocery store and the village postoffice at Mason's Corner, the cross-roads between Eastborough and Mason's Corner, Mr. Putnam's settle room at the Indian farm, the Pettengill farmyard, showing an old-fashioned hunking bee at the great barn, and the interior and exterior of the Pettengill homestead in a good old New England town.
The remarkable success of this play whenever presented is the talk of theatrical managers throughout the country. It has stood right in New England ever since Christmas, returning to many cities for the second time, no matter what the play prior to its first visit. In some cases this play has gone back even for the third time, by popular request, each time playing to larger audiences, and this all within a few weeks. The big production will be seen to excellent advantage on the big Boston Theatre stage.

Proof of Sobriety.
In England an officer is court-martialed for being drunk, and the story is told of a young officer who was accused of this crime—and he was very nearly got clear by his servant. The servant, who was an Irishman, was asked by the Court whether his master was sober on the night when he was stated to have been drunk.
"Yes, sir," the servant replied, "he was quite sober."
"How do you know he was sober?"
"Because he asked me to call him early." This was a convincing answer. But one of the officers of the court-martial, remembering that there was no early parade on the following morning, asked the servant what reason his master gave for wishing to be called early. Without a moment's hesitation the servant replied: "He said he was queer on the way, sir."
